A birthday celebration is always a cause for joy, but the milestone celebration of the of the Deutsche Gesellschaft für Materialkunde (DGM) 100th Anniversary which is a very special occasion.

DGM is not only a member of the Federation of European Materials Societies (FEMS) but one of the founding and most valuable members. I would like to highlight the crucial role of the scientific societies in supporting the work of the scientist and science students, but not less important is the role to disseminate science and to approach science to society.

As FEMS we are enormously proud of the work made by all our member societies and it is a great pleasure to share with DGM this 100th Anniversary celebration. It is a great honour to have DGM as one of our members and we wish the best for the future.
